

Scheduling FAQs

What's the best way to ensure I can schedule a visit for the day I want?

Since admissions visits fill up quickly, it is recommended that you schedule at least 2-3 weeks in advance.

Are there other options for visiting if the day I want is not available?

Even if Undergraduate Admissions cannot formally host your family, you are still welcome to visit Ohio State. You can download our self-guided walking tour to explore campus on a day that is convenient for your family.

Can my parents come with me?

Yes, we encourage you to bring your parents or guardians. When you select a group size for your visit, please include them in the total.

Why does an error message appear when I am scheduling a visit?

You may not have filled in all of the required fields. Try to schedule again and be sure all the required fields are answered. If you need assistance, call Undergraduate Admissions and First Year Experience at (614) 292-3980.

Can I meet with an academic department while I'm on campus?

There are several academic departments that hold group information sessions. Once you begin scheduling your visit, you will be asked to choose an "area of interest." Based on your answer, the calendar will show options for admissions visits and academic sessions. Academic sessions are offered on a limited basis, and it is best to schedule 2-3 weeks in advance.

Can I meet with a varsity coach during my visit?

Where can I park?

Can I sign up for more than one visit?

Yes, of course. However, be sure not to double book for the same visit, Admissions Overview and Tours regardless of time of year convey the same message and visit the same areas. So, if you're interested in a specific academic field please be mindful and register for that.
